Good News for Macular Degeneration and Christmas Shoppers!

Jim Bustraan is a retired VP of Circulation for the Sun-Sentinel newspaper in Ft Lauderdale, FL. He still leads a busy life as a Bible teacher, as well as a Board Member of OM USA and Water For Good which provides and maintains wells in Africa. Jim wouldn't be able to sustain this level of activity without the help of the CAMS technology.

In 2006 Jim developed macular degeneration and his vision deteriorated rapidly. Wavy lines in his field of vision hindered driving and reading. A retinal specialist told him it would continue to get progressively worse. Jim did his homework and confirmed what he had been told. According to the medical profession, macular degeneration is irreversible.

"I had many people praying for me. Dr Crosby was in my Bible Study; he invited me for a complimentary CAMS treatment. I was impressed because just one treatment improved my visual acuity from 20/40 to 20/25. I bought a CAMS unit and began to use it several days a week."

Jim didn't see further improvement right away, but his vision did not get worse. After a year, his doctor was surprised that his condition had not progressed. Jim continued to use the CAMS unit several days each week and gradually his sight improved. After two years, his vision was normal; after three years the ophthalmologist told him there was no evidence of macular degeneration.

"While I no longer use the CAMS unit to treat my eyes, I have found it to be a great tool for reducing swelling and pain following small injuries. It is wonderful technology, emphasizes Jim.
