Improved memory and cognitive function

Normal brain Acute Alzheimer's

The idea of using frequency to heal is not new. In 1929 George Lakhovsky, a Russian engineer, published a book called, The Secret of Life which revealed that all living cells, from humans to parasites, radiate oscillations and that they respond to oscillations from outside sources. According to Lakhovsky, when outside frequencies resonate with the original resonant frequencies of the human body, health returns. This is one of the concepts incorporated in CAMS technology in which the foundational frequency of the Earth is used to re-balance the energetic field of the body. It is also the concept behind our newest CAMS unit, the RJV-Jr., which is programmed with the frequency of healthy chromosomes and has been successfully used to lengthen telomeres and provide many anti-aging benefits.

Last year, I read an interesting article about how researchers in Australia had identified a frequency that reversed Alzheimer's disease in 75% of the experimental population. According to the Australian research, the applied frequency clears amyloid plaque from the brain with no adverse effects. Amyloid plaque is a sticky protein that builds up between nerve cells in the brain. It results in cell death and the breakdown of cellular communication. When plaque clears, memory and other cognitive functions often improve.

Our own research revealed that mortality from Alzheimer's disease is now the sixth leading cause of death in the United States. Mortality has increased by nearly 40% over the last 30 years and all projections indicate that the trend will continue. Regardless of whether a person has been diagnosed with Alzheimer's disease, memory and cognitive functions tend to deteriorate with age. We wondered about the possibility of reducing many Alzheimer's -like symptoms with CAMS technology so we programmed several CAMS devices with the frequency used in the Australian research. For the last number of months, we have been conducting trials -- with promising results.

Almost everyone knows someone who is affected by Alzheimer's-type symptoms. Do you? Do you own a CAMS unit? If the answer to these questions is yes, and if you are interested in participating in further research at no cost to you, please contact us. We will be initiating a larger trial in the next several months and we would like to include as many individuals as possible.
